COMMON ERRORS TO AVOID WHEN FILING AN APPLICATION FOR A CERTIFICATE OF APPOINTMENT OF ESTATE TRUSTEE

Laura Craig – Ministry of the Attorney General

Debbie Dykstra – Ministry of the Attorney General

Estate administration matters can be complex when taking into consideration such matters as family members’ interests, notices to beneficiaries, the validity of the will, the estate trustee named and his or her residence, and whether the deceased person resided in Ontario. These are all matters that have to be considered by the Registrar of the Superior Court of Justice before the estate application may be processed. In this session, staff from Court Services Division will discuss common errors in applications for a certificate of appointment of estate trustee and their remedies.

MODERNIZATION OF CANADA'S TRADEMARK REGIME: RECENT AMENDMENTS TO THE TRADEMARKS ACT

Lauren Lodenquai – Deeth Williams Wall LLP

In 2014, the most significant changes to Canada's trademark regime in over 50 years were passed through two amendments to the Trademarks Act. First, in June, by an omnibus budget bill (Bill C-31), and second, in December, by the Combating Counterfeit Products Act (Bill C-8). These sweeping changes impact searching, clearing, risk analysis, protection and enforcement of trademarks in Canada.

This session will provide an overview of the key changes to the current trademark regime, explain how the changes will impact trademark owners and provide guidance to prepare for the new trademark regime.

THE GIFTS OF GREAT LEADERS

The Honourable David C. Onley Former Lieutenant Governor

Keynote Speaker

“One of the gifts of great leaders, and one from which each of us can learn, is that they frame reality for the group. They define its situation. They specify its aims. They articulate its choices. They tell us where we are and where we are going in a way no satellite navigation system could. They show us the map and the destination, and help us see why we should choose this route not that.” – Lord Sacks

Through personal and historic example, The Honourable David Onley demonstrates how the above principles can – and do – work for organizations large and small.

COMPLIANCE FOR THE 21ST CENTURY AND BEYOND

Monique Jacob - ADP Canada Co.

"Laws control the lesser man...right conduct controls the greater one." - Mark Twain

The complexity of doing business is increasing at an accelerated pace adding layer upon layer of compliance requirements coming from all directions. Whether it be compliance with the ever-increasing number of laws and regulations enacted within our nation and globally, internal policies and procedures developed to reflect a business' culture and appetite for risk or the standards established by societal norms and industry codes, navigating through the maze of rules is a daunting task for businesses today.

Compliance for the 21st Century and Beyond will look at the inter-relationship between governance, risk and compliance and highlight the role of the law clerk as a valued legal professional for the future.
